CREDITS 216

ID 115723

Learnership Code: 32Q20277122165 | QCTO Curriculum Code: 312201-000-00-00

PURPOSE

Production Supervisors lead and coordinate daily production operations to ensure output is achieved safely, efficiently, and to standard. They plan, organise, lead, and control production activities while managing human and physical resources across the production floor, working closely with first-line leaders and operational teams to maintain steady workflow and performance.

This qualification prepares learners to ensure compliance with health and safety, legal, and quality requirements, apply structured problem solving and troubleshooting, and support team capability through on-the-job learning, coaching, and development within a production environment.

ABOUT ODI

Organisation Development International (ODI), South Africa, is a globally represented company, focusing on operational excellence.

ODI has been in business since 1989. We are in partnership with a Japanese company, the PPORF Development Institute (PDI). PDI is the original developer of the 20 Keys programme for operations excellence. The 20 Keys programme, for which ODI is the Exclusive License Holder for Southern Africa, is supported by National and Occupational Certificates at NQF Levels 2, 3, 4 and 5.

The main return on investment from the training and development of people comes from ensuring an organisation's long-term success and growth. It also provides a key competitive advantage in terms of operations, because while any organisation can copy or acquire similar technologies and implement similar processes to their competitors, the people skills, knowledge and wisdom cannot be copied or easily acquired. Resilient organisations possess a strong internal capability for operations improvement, with a high level of flexibility within and between teams – the foundation for rapid adaptation to environmental changes.

The main focus of the 20 Keys for Continuous Operations Improvement is the development of an energised workplace within which people clearly understand the goals and objectives and actively participate in achieving them by providing their inputs for continuously improving quality, cost, productivity and delivery of products and service.

Let the OCCUPATIONAL CERTIFICATE: PRODUCTION SUPERVISOR form part of your journey of Continuous Operations Improvement!
